

Procedure for instructing a courier service

As an alternative to the personal collection you may wish to instruct a courier service to collect the goods and ship them to you.

The procedure is the same as for the personal collection – please see above. Instead of collecting the goods personally you need to instruct a courier service yourself to collect the goods in Brussels and to ship them to your required destination. The collection date needs to be arranged in advance as well. Please also inform us in writing which courier service you have instructed.

Both risk and cost of a collection need to be covered by yourself. AMP accepts no responsibility for damages or losses occurred in transit after the collection. The moment the goods are handed over to the courier the responsibility passes over to you, the buyer. It is up to the buyer to have insurance in place should any damages or losses occur.
